Squaxin Island Tribe Museum Library and Research Center

150 SE K'WUH-DEEGS-ALTXW, Shelton

Please call to confirm hours: 360.432.3839

<http://squaxinmuseum.org/>

The center's striking entrance was designed to resemble "Thunderbird," a favorite character in local legends. The center landscape was designed to enhance and intensify the concept of a living eco-museum illustrating the relationship between the Tribe and the environment of South Puget Sound. A boardwalk connects the cultural center complex buildings and surrounds a beautiful water feature resembling a typical South Puget Sound shoreline which delineates the atmosphere of a traditional shoreline village. Current exhibits share the stories behind the South Puget Sound watershed through tribal legends, photographs, art and more. Visitors should not miss this piece of Washington history.
